

Dear FCC,

It has come to my attention that a new broadcast service, LPFM, may threaten my receiving the local broadcast of my very favorite radio station K-LOVE on 91.1 FM.

Since K-LOVE began broadcasting in the Denver area, I have been more connected to my community than ever before. Because I am a Christian, I am interested in local Christian activities. On Sundays I hear only what's going on at our church – now, through K-LOVE, I hear about concerts, programs, charitable drives, and community group events that occur up and down the regional front range. I've attended, enjoyed, and been involved in more wonderful activities than ever before. Without the services of K-LOVE I would be back in the dark relative to community involvement. K-LOVE helps our local Christian events be successful, events such as food bank drives; blood drives; Habitat for Humanity Builds, sending Bibles and encouragement to our military troops, Parenting Skills clinics, and the like.

Of course, I love the music, so I stayed tuned to K-LOVE all the time, yet I know I'm not missing out on important events. Local Emergency Broadcasting reaches me via K-LOVE, National and World News is there for me also.

I NEED K-LOVE! Please don't allow K-LOVE to be replaced by an LPFM station. Please! Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,

Elizebeth A. Howard
